

SEVEN ESSENTIAL LIFE SKILLS

Skill Building Book Tips

You can read Grace for President in a way that highlights Critical Thinking, a Life Skill that promotes Executive Functions. This Life Skill is the ongoing search for valid and reliable knowledge to guide beliefs, decisions and actions.

TIP:

Grace for President begins with Grace's observation that there are no women on the poster of Presidents and asks: "Where are the girls?"

Ask your child:

- "Why do you think that Grace noticed that there has never been a woman President and others didn't bring it up?"
- "Have you ever noticed something that no one else has mentioned?"

Ask your child to share his or her stories and point out how important it is to pay close attention to what is going on.

SKILL:

In order to think critically, children need to be observant.

TIP:

Grace and Thomas select very different slogans, promises and strategies to try to win this election. Ask your child to compare these slogans, promises and strategies and to guess which would work and which wouldn't and why.

SKILL:

Critical Thinking centers on understanding cause and effect, which draws on Executive Function skills.

TIP:

Thomas calculated that all of the girls would vote for Grace and all of the boys would vote for him. If he had been paying closer attention, he might not have made this assumption.

Ask your child to look for clues in the book's illustrations that indicate Thomas' theory might have been wrong. Here's a hint: ask your child to look for Sam in the illustrations.

SKILL:

Critical Thinking involves testing your theories or hypotheses about cause and effect to see if they are valid and accurate.

Grace for President

By Kelly DiPucchio

When Grace runs for President in her school's mock election, she learns she can only win if some of the boys vote for her. This is an empowering and fun story about the electoral system, hard work, independent thinking and using fair judgment.

SEVEN ESSENTIAL LIFE SKILLS

Skill Building Book Tips

TIP:

Ask your child:

- “What problems did Grace and Thomas encounter in running for President? How did they solve them? What do you think of their solutions?”

SKILL:

Problem solving is key to Critical Thinking.

TIP:

This book presents a great opportunity to understand the electoral system in the United States. Comparing the story in this book to children’s memories of recent or current elections will help them think critically about the history they are experiencing.

SKILL:

Critical Thinking includes being able to remember previous experiences and information and apply this knowledge to the present.

Grace for President

By Kelly DiPucchio

When Grace runs for President in her school’s mock election, she learns she can only win if some of the boys vote for her. This is an empowering and fun story about the electoral system, hard work, independent thinking and using fair judgment.

These tips sheets were developed by Mind in the Making, in collaboration with First Book. Mind in the Making and Vroom are programs of the Bezos Family Foundation. Find more books and materials on the First Book Marketplace, a resource available exclusively to educators and programs serving children in need. Visit: www.fbmarketplace.org.

For more ways to help your child learn and develop, visit mindinthemaking.org and vroom.org

MIND in the Making
The Seven Essential Life Skills Every Child Needs